11.3 If a provision of these GTC or a provision under other agreements is or becomes ineffective, the effectiveness of all other provisions or agreements shall not be affected thereby.

Express reference is made to the applicability of the provisions of the General Austrian Forwarders' Terms and Conditions stated in detail below:

Clause 54

(a) To the extent that the forwarder is liable at all, his liability shall be limited to:

(1) EUR 7,267.28 per claim for damage or loss resulting from misappropriation or embezzlement by the forwarder's employees. This shall not include legal representatives, whose actions are not subject to limited liability. For the purpose of this provision a claim shall mean any damage caused by an employee of the forwarder through misappropriation or embezzlement, irrespective of whether other employees of the forwarder are involved in the damaging action and whether the damage affects one or several independent customers of the forwarder. The forwarder shall be obliged upon request to inform his customer on whether he has covered this liability risk and, if so, with which insurance company.

(2) EUR 1.09 per kg of gross weight of each damaged or lost package, but not more than EUR 1,090.09 per claim.

(3) A maximum liability of EUR 2,180.18 for all other claims, except for those described in para 1.

(b) If the stated value of the goods is lower than the amounts set out in para (a) above, the stated value shall form the basis for assessment.

(c) If the relevant value as defined in para (b) above is higher than the common market value or, in its absence, higher than the fair market value which is applicable to goods of the same type and quality at the time and place of delivery to the forwarder, such common market value or fair market value shall replace the stated value.

(d) In the case of differences in the values stated, if any, the lower value shall apply in each case.

Clause 55

In the case of damage to a part of an item which has an independent value (e.g. machine parts) or damage to any of several objects belonging together (e.g. household furniture), any impairment in value of the remainder of the object or the remaining parts or objects shall not be taken into consideration.

Clause 56

(a) In the case of goods worth more than EUR 29.06 per kg of gross weight, and with respect to money, documents and postal stamps, the forwarder shall only be liable for any damage of whatever kind if he has received a written value statement from the customer so timely that he was able to conclusively decide about acceptance or rejection of the order as well as on precautionary measures to be taken with respect to acceptance, custody or shipping of the goods.

(b) A value statement given to drivers and accompanying personnel shall have no legal effect unless and until it has been received by the forwarder or one of his commercial employees authorised to receive the same, unless otherwise agreed.

(c) Para (a) above shall not apply if the customer can prove that the damage was caused by circumstances other than an omission to state the value or that it would also have occurred if a value statement had in fact been made.

(d) The provisions of the other Clauses shall remain unaffected insofar as they limit or abolish liability beyond the provisions of this Clause.

Clause 57

The forwarder shall not be liable for:

(1) damage (including but not limited to damage caused by theft) to unpacked or inadequately packed goods, unless a special written agreement concerning such liability has been concluded in advance;

(2) goods which are deemed unpacked or inadequately packed according to the applicable terms and conditions of carriage; such goods will also be deemed unpacked or inadequately packed vis-à-vis the forwarder;

(3) damage to packaging that is noticeable from outside appearing at once or later; the forwarder may have such damage repaired at the customer's expense but shall not assume any liability extending beyond the liability set out in the preceding paragraphs.

(b) damage caused by outdoor storage if such storage was agreed upon or if a different type of storage was inappropriate according to ordinary business operations or under the circumstances prevailing at the time;

(c) damage caused by theft as defined by Sections 127 et seq. of the Austrian Criminal Code [Strafgesetzbuch/StGB], or through blackmail or robbery as defined by Sections 144 et seq. and 142 et seq. StGB;

(d) the direct or indirect consequences of any other event that cannot be attributed to the forwarder (e.g. acts of God, weather conditions, defective equipment or lines, impact of other goods, damage caused by animals or natural changes in the goods themselves);

(e) damage or loss caused during inland waterway shipping (including pre-carriage and on-carriage transportation via land vehicles, as well as advance, interim and final storage) which is covered by transport or warehousing insurance or which could have been covered by transport or warehousing insurance policies of a usual kind, or which can be covered according to standard practices of diligent business people beyond the scope of transport or warehousing policies of a usual kind, unless a duly concluded insurance policy becomes ineffective due to faulty action on the part of the forwarder.
